Seasonal Forestry Positions
Vacancy Announcement
November 15, 2016

POSITION

W. M. Beaty & Associates, Inc. is seeking applicants to fill field technician positions for the 2017 field season. Successful applicants will work jointly with professional foresters on all aspects of field operations, with a focus on timber sale and Timber Harvesting Plan preparation. Successful applicants will gain exposure to many forest management activities with one of Northern California’s longest standing forest management and consulting firms. W. M. Beaty & Associates, Inc., based in Redding, California, manages 290,000 acres of private forestland in Northeastern California for long-term clients and provides consulting services to other forestland owners and managers. The term of the positions is from approximately April 15th to December 15th. Consideration will be given to academic schedules. Appropriate equipment and transportation will be provided. These positions will be based out of Burney and Susanville, California.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Successful applicants will be trained and gain valuable experience in the technical and professional aspects of timber harvest planning, timber sale preparation, and timber inventory under the supervision of a Registered Professional Forester. Responsibilities will include, but not be limited to timber marking, harvest boundary flagging, watercourse protection zone flagging, assisting with timber sale administration, and field aspects of timber inventory and harvest model implementation.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates should have familiarity with northern California tree species, basic mensuration, and silvicultural techniques with skills in map reading and compass use. Experience with GPS and GIS is desirable. A high degree of self-motivation is expected. Candidates should also be currently enrolled in (or graduate from) an Associate or Bachelor of Science program in forest management, wildlife, or resource management.

SALARY

Salary will be competitive and based on qualifications and experience.

APPLICATION

A letter of application, resume, and list of references should be mailed to W. M. Beaty & Associates, Inc., Attn.: Nick Knipe, P.O. Box 990898, Redding, CA, 96099-0898, or emailed to nickk@wmbeaty.com. Resumes will be accepted until the positions are filled.
